1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Toshiba Tungaloy (JP 08-092685).

Toshiba Tungaloy discloses the claimed coating and the claimed thickness & stress on the claimed substrate.

3. Claims 5,8,13,16,19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kameoka et al (5,733,668).

Kameoka et al discloses the claimed substrate having the claimed WC grain size coated with a hard carbon layer having the claimed thickness and surface roughness. The claimed stress is considered inherent to the carbon coating since stress is dependent of how the film is made.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Toshiba Tungaloy (JP 08-082685) in view of Oskarsson (6,228,139).

Toshiba Tungaloy discloses the invention substantially as claimed except for the claimed WC grain size.

Oskarsson discloses the claimed WC grain size for cemented carbides.

Thus it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the cemented carbide of Toshiba Tungaloy with the claimed WC grain size as these sizes are known in the tool art to improve performance of substrates as shown by Oskarsson.

6. Claim 5,8,13,16,19,20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sathrum et al (6,139,964) or Falabella (5,763,087) in view of Oskarsson (6,228,139).

Sathrum et al or Falabella disclose the invention substantially as claimed except for the claimed WC grain size.

Oskarsson discloses the claimed WC grain size for cemented carbides.

Thus it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the cemented carbide of Sathrum et al or Falabella with the claimed WC grain size as these sizes are known in the tool art to improve performance of substrates as shown by Oskarsson.
